Summer Program for Operations Research Technology (SPORT)

The SPORT program at the National Security Agency (NSA) offers graduate students the opportunity to apply their academic knowledge in a stimulating professional environment. As a SPORT intern you will work closely with full time Operations Research analysts applying academic and technical skills to challenging, real-world problems. Internships are paid and are 12 weeks in duration (May-August). Applications accepted September 1st through October 31st.

U.S. citizenship is required.
NSA is an Equal Opportunity Employer.
